New York, NY - Today marks a significant milestone in the world of literature as Epilogue, a pioneering resale ecommerce book store, officially launches its platform. "We strive to make reading fun again by allowing access to all sorts of literature at a reasonable price for everyone," says Jill Horner, co-owner of Epilogue. "You can also feel good knowing that with each book you purchase, a child in the United States will also be positively impacted."

Moreover, Epilogue is committed to giving back to communities by donating a portion of every purchase to local libraries across the country. Through this initiative, Epilogue aims to provide children with the resources they need to foster a love for reading and learning.

"We believe in the power of books to inspire and educate, and our partnership with local libraries reflects our commitment to making a meaningful difference in the lives of young readers," adds Annsley Tabb, co-owner of Epilogue.
